Bulk Purchasing and Reselling of AI Hardware

AI-Chip and Hardware Reselling Niche

The world of hardware and chip logistics is a multifaceted domain that encompasses the design, manufacturing, distribution, and resale of semiconductor chips and related hardware components. As the demand for electronics skyrockets – the logistics of getting these essential components from manufacturers to end-users has become increasingly intricate and vital for the global economy.

Business Partners Needs

Resellers play a crucial role in making hardware components and chips accessible to smaller manufacturers, tech companies, and hobbyists. They bridge the gap between manufacturers and end-users, often stocking various products to cater to different needs. Business partners need a rapid scalable solution to secure bulk purchases of the AI-chips and hardware needed.

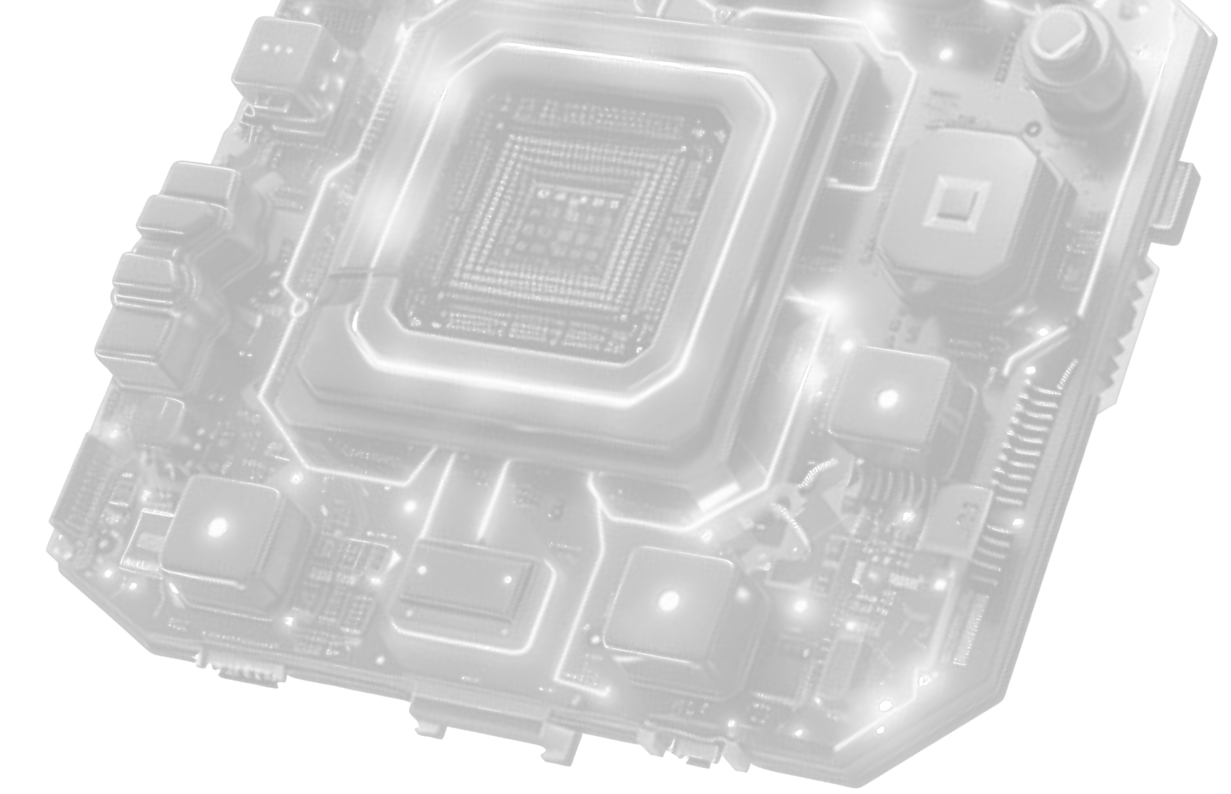

P2B Crowdfunding

The GTX Platform serves as a crowdfunding mechanism that aligns interests of two distinct user groups: business owners seeking cutting-edge AI hardware and individual investors ready to fund these opportunities.

How does it work?

A proven business model, optimized for a global scale.

Platform Intermediate

Business owners submit their AI hardware needs, which are then converted into contracts on the GTX Platform. Users worldwide can register on the platform and recharge their balances using digital currency. By participating in contracts with varying terms, they can earn a dynamic daily revenue stream.

Capital Loan

Business Model Expansion

GTX acts as a financial intermediary, leveraging funds from users to fulfill larger orders for AI hardware. Typically, the capital provided enables bulk purchasing, resulting in cost savings that can be passed on to business owners while increasing profit margins for Global Trading Experts & Partners LTD.

Contract Profit

Revenue Mechanism

The platform operates on a straightforward revenue model. Each time users withdraw funds from the platform, a fee of 1.5% is applied. This fee contributes to the sustainability of the GTX Platform and Affiliate Program Rewards, ensuring continued growth and expansion.

Sales Expansion

The profit for Global Trading Experts & Partners LTD primarily arises from the margin between the cost price of AI hardware orders and the price at which these are sold to business owners.
